Focus on the Process

Standardization
is important

When we mention cars,
just insert your subject

The processes are identical regardless of subject matter

Library & Archives

Focus

- Pre-eminent library on automotive history
- US and European marques: Alfa-Romeo, Bentley, Cunningham, Ferrari, Mercedes, Porsche

Staff

- 7 FTE staff, 2.5 digitizing
- Interns, volunteers

Collections

- Largest collection of US and European auto books, journals, manuals, photographs

Revs Digital Library

New Financial Goals, 2017

Revenue

- Tuition
- Taxes
- Grants
- Benefactor
- Visitors
- Sales

Expenditure

- Hardware
- Software
- Supplies
- Staff
- Other

Goal

- 100% subsidy to 100% self-sufficient

Execute

- 70% reduction in costs
- 300% sales increase from 2015

The Problem

- System was not designed to generate revenue
- Complex workflow
- Money left in the stacks

Strategic Plan Drivers

Streamline

Standardize

Self-Sustain

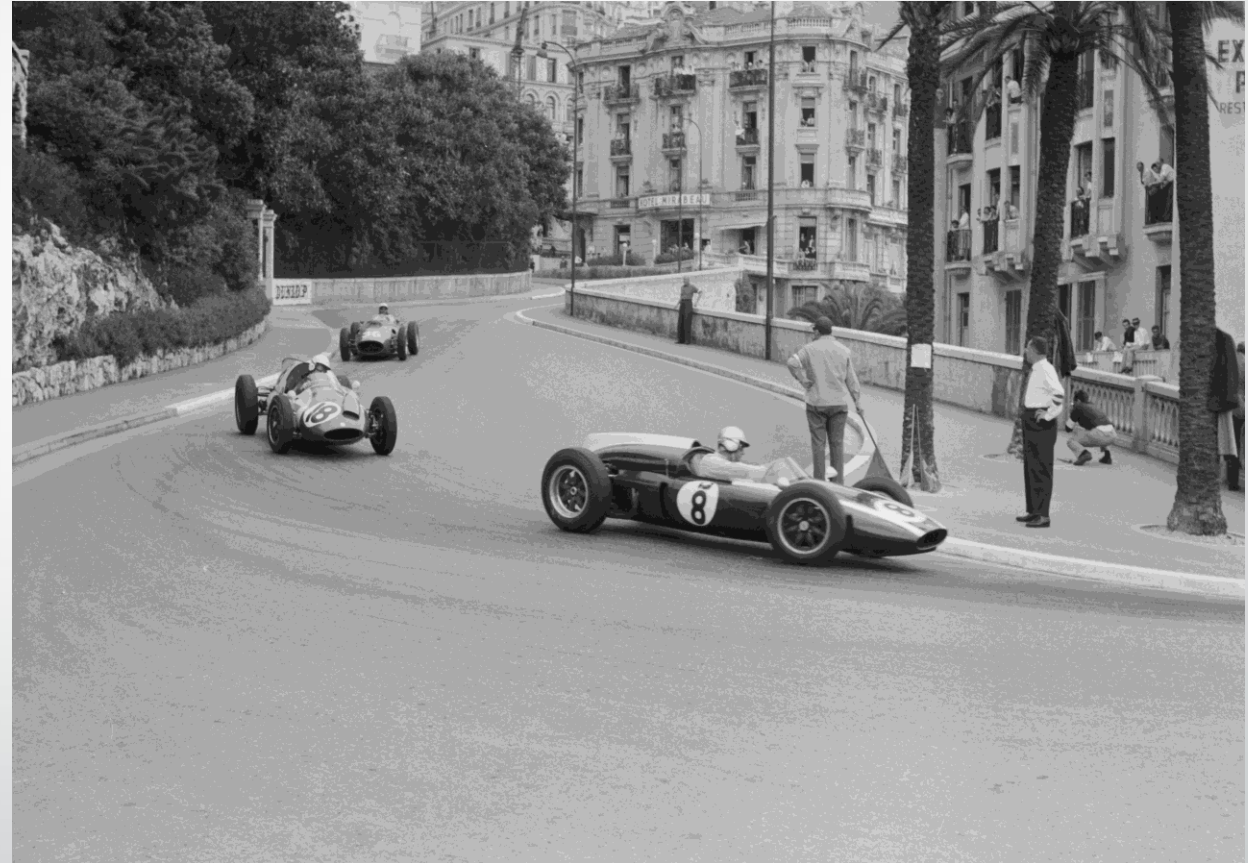

Workflow Changes

PREVIOUS WORKFLOW/SYSTEM	NEW WORKFLOW/SYSTEM
Outsourcing Digitization	In-House Digitization
Outsourcing RDL Host	OCLC's CONTENTdm
Non-MARC Compliant Catalog	OCLC's WorldShare Management Services
Non-Automated Image Sales	Partially Automated Image Sales
	Amazon Sales
	Omeka
	LibAnswers

Bring Operations In-House

- Major cost is digitization
- Previously, digitization was outsourced
- Brought digitization in-house
- This cut costs by 80-90%

Monetizing

- Digitization is expensive
- Monetize the expense!
 - Sell the images, if copyright allows
 - Make the process quick and easy
 - Available for commercial and non-commercial use

Digitization Process 2017

Migrating Digital Library Platforms

- RDL migrated to CONTENTdm
- Established a detailed plan, but stayed flexible
- Planning and testing took about five months
- Actual upload took two months

Il Duce passa in rivista 40.000 giovani Fascisti dei reparti celeri, venuti a Roma da ogni regione d'Italia. Come già nella Marcia su Roma, così in questa adunata, si è avuto prova di quel che possa valere, per il celere trasporto di masse, l'automobile. E all'automobilismo italiano il Duce ha dato possibilità di sviluppo, con provvidenze di ogni genere: dalle strade alla legislazione.

670		Wikipedia, April 10, 2018 (The Belgian Grand Prix is an automobile race, part of the Formula One World Championship. The first national race of Belgium was held in 1925 at the Spa region's race course, an area of the country that had been associated with motor sport since the very early years of racing. To accommodate Grand Prix motor racing, the Circuit de Spa-Francorchamps race course was built in 1921 but it was only used for motorcycle racing until 1924. After the 1923 success of the new 24 hours of Le Mans in France, the Spa 24 Hours, a similar 24-hour endurance race, was run at the Spa track. Since inception, Spa-Francorchamps has been known for its unpredictable weather. At one stage in its history it had rained at the Belgian Grand Prix for twenty years in a row. Frequently drivers confront a part of the course that is clear and bright while another stretch is rainy and slippery. The Belgian Grand Prix was designated the European Grand Prix six times between 1925 and 1973, when this title was an honorary designation given each year to one Grand Prix race in Europe. It is one of the most popular races on the Formula One calendar, due to the scenic and historical Spa-Francorchamps circuit being a favourite of drivers and fans.)

Travels in a Phoenix 8/10 and 11.9: The story of a British military family's time in India

Follow the path of a British military officer and his family on their adventures as they travel throughout India from 1909 to 1920. Find out what a family 100 years ago did for fun, their cars, and the effect Britain had on Indian culture.

Traveling Through India

One of the lasting marks left by the British on the Indian sub-continent was a road and rail system. In the 1920s, car travel in India required the traveler to plan their route in advance. Gas stations were not widespread and those wishing to travel throughout India had to coordinate their stops with the train schedules. At the train stops the travelers would pick up gasoline that had been transported there via train.

Car breakdowns could very well happen when traveling India. Being knowledgeable about the vehicle and being able to repair damage with spare parts was crucial. India for the Motorist: A Guide for the Tourist and Resident advised that in the event of more serious damage, travelers would have to go to the nearest telegram office to send a message to the "nearest motor firm" to seek assistance. In addition to gasoline and spare car parts, food was also kept in the vehicle. In India for the Motorist, travelers were urged to carry "army rations" and a "Berkefield water filter" along with their thermoses, frying pans, and enameled iron dishes for cooking and eating. The Major and his family can be seen traveling through India in their Phoenix 8/10 car in the photographs at left. The family's luggage and spare tire can be seen, showing that they were trying to be prepared for the journey.

While food needed to be considered by the travelers, lodging existed throughout India. Various bungalows, known as dáks, were sporadically positioned on the roads as a rest stop for travelers. Here a chef would be available to cook for the guests with the food they brought. Also, the rooms were equipped with charpoy, a traditional woven bed. On the right is a photograph, from the Clarence W. Sorensen Collection - Safety Negatives Collection from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, that illustrates what a charpoy might look like for various travelers.

In addition to dák bungalows, hotels were scattered throughout India. While these hotels had many of the
